WE NOMINATE

George Drayton Strayer, at age 81 one of New Jersey's forward-looking educators, who helped shape the newly issued "College Opportunity in New Jersey," the definitive and disturbing report prepared by the State Board of Education for the guidance of the Governor and Legislature in plotting the urgent needs of publicly supported higher education in the years just ahead. Better than any other existing document, this 60-page study, for which Strayer served as chief architect and also tramped through every building at the eight state-supported institutions, documents the educational plight of New Jersey—the third wealthiest state in terms of per capita income, that trains only one out of every four public school teachers it needs and ranks 39th (below Georgia) in net state expenditures for higher education.

Participation in a survey of a tax-sustained education system, in this instance blueprinting the significance of a $65,000,000 bond issue if New Jersey is to keep abreast of minimal short-range needs, is hardly a new experience for Strayer, a tradition in the sphere of public education for the past four decades. A resident of Princeton for some four years, he theoretically retired from the faculty of Columbia University's Teachers College in 1942 upon the completion of 38 years of duty. However, he has since devoted his "retirement" to searching analyses in such complex geographic and educational entities as California and Georgia, the District of Columbia and New York City.

Pennsylvania-born and the father of three distinguished university professors, including two senior members of the Princeton Faculty, Strayer went directly from Johns Hopkins to Columbia in 1905 after combining Phi Beta Kappa grades with full-time employment. He rose steadily through faculty ranks, and, as Field Director of Columbia's Institute of Educational Research as well as Professor of Educational Administration, was instrumental in establishing Teachers College as a driving-force in American education. It is estimated that 90 per cent of the hundreds who studied under him, and took part in Strayer-directed surveys in all parts of the country, advanced to key posts in the Nation's schools.

Strayer, strongly believing that the specialist in education must relate his work and theories to affairs of the moment, offered his services to educators everywhere and frequently carried forward projects demanding staffs of upwards of 50 persons. In the early 1920's he and his associates at Columbia completed the highly important "Financing of Education—State of New York," the first study to define the state's financial responsibilities in maintaining educational levels, particularly in hard-pressed municipalities. Shortly before World War II, Strayer, a past president of the National Education Association, published the "Structure and Administration of Education in American Democracy," still a standard work for educational administrators.

For possibly contributing as much as any living American to the general public's understanding of universal school systems; for seeking to focus attention on an educational crisis that threatens New Jersey's continued well-being; for thoroughly enjoying opportunities for service; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

This Is PRINCETON

EFFICIENCY TRIBUTE

Public-less Hearing Held. The Board of Education of Princeton Borough convened en masse Tuesday evening at Princeton High School to answer questions about a record-establishing proposed school budget for 1958-59, but the board's $1,292,334 educational price tag went unchallenged.
Sole "outsiders" on hand were two newspaper reporters, who already had reviewed the figures at an earlier press conference, and a lone representative of the PHS Parent-Teacher Association, who had no questions to pose.

True, rain prevailed Tuesday evening, so weather might be used as an excuse for the public-less hearing on the school budget. Or, some observers might level the traditional charge of complacency on the part of Borough residents.
But, really, the rain wasn't that bad Tuesday—auto travel was quite simple—and the complacency charge certainly doesn't hold much water in the light of recent public interest in other municipal matters.

The all-but-total lack of attendance at the much-publicized session actually must be considered a tribute to the efficiency of the school board. Two weeks ago, the board announced its proposed figures and, at the same time, assured Borough taxpayers that the forthcoming tax rate for school purposes will be about the same as it was last year. Princeton's schools were well-run, earning top-grade report cards, last year—as they have been for many years—so this "hold-that-line" attitude of the board apparently was everything the public could request.

Mrs. Thelma Young, board president, put it rather succinctly at the board's previous parley with the press when she observed,
"The Board of Education presents this budget with a great deal of satisfaction since it can guarantee to the citizens of the community that it contains sufficient funds to guarantee the continuance of the school system at its high level of efficiency and yet

Music to Their Ears

In response to the pleas of harried parents and their hopeful children, and as a public service to the Princeton Community, the Borough Board of Education agreed this week to install an answering service at PHS for future snowy days. The mechanical device, to be set up within two weeks' time, will automatically answer, "No school today," if indeed too much snow or ice prohibits the opening of school.

If weather conditions look worse than they really are,
and students dial WA 4-5600
just in case, there will be no answer whatsoever, providing school is set to open that particular day. Board members, noting that the new system will be purely experimental for the remainder of the present winter, urged callers to prevent an overbunching of calls by listening to their radios for the same "closed" reports.

When some sort of signal was first suggested to the board, it was thought conceivable that fire sirens might be employed to signify that school will not be in session due to bad weather. This possibility was ruled out by Borough officials, who claimed such a move would raise hob with fire insurance rates and might well cause much fire-alarm confusion.

keep the tax rate for school purposes at its present level." The public, accustomed to the acceptance of merchandise without guarantees these days, undoubtedly went for Mrs. Young's sincere promise.

On February 11, from 5 to 9 p.m., the board will ask citizens to approve the million-dollar budget at the polls and, while a large turnout would be greatly appreciated (as well as surprising), the measure will likely be passed with no more than a dissenting vote or two, if any. Vol-ers will be able to go to two different polling places this year—at Witherspoon School in addition to Princeton High—but this added convenience should have little bearing on the outcome.

Incidentally, Mrs. Young and two other members of the "efficiency" board, Irving W. Mer-shon, longtime secretary, and Graham Rohrer, public relations chairman, will run as incumbent candidates for three available board seats at the same election.
No voting bets were being made this week on the election outcome, since it looked almost certain that the "well-satisfied" members will find themselves unopposed.

WELCOME WORD

Tax Rate Unaffected. In preparation for a public hearing on Princeton Township's proposed education budget for 1958-59, the Township Board of Education figured at its January meeting last week that no increase in the portion of the municipality's tax rate for school purposes will be required. This conclusion was reached following a comparison of the increase in tax rateables with the increase in the amount that must be raised locally as a result of the proposed budget.

The public hearing is scheduled for 8 p.m. next Tuesday in the cafeteria of Valley Road School.
Meanwhile, the full budget is available for study prior to the hearing at the Stony Brook administration building. Copies of a somewhat less detailed budget will be provided for interested citizens at the actual gathering.

Explaining the reasoning behind their conclusion, board members noted that published figures show an increase of $5,262,000, or 7.6 per cent, in Township tax rateables. At last year's tax rate of 1.50, this would mean something slightly over $100,000 in increased revenues. The proposed school budget shows a hike of $46,938, or 3.9 per cent. In the amount to be raised from local taxes. Considering the fact that last year the education costs accounted for slightly more than 1.04, or 52 per cent, of the total tax rate, the board decided that the tax rate for school purposes will easily hold the line, since the increase will use up only some 47 per cent of the total increased revenue available.

The final total tax rate, of course, is still undetermined inasmuch as it depends also on what happens to municipal government and county needs, both unknown at this time.

ROUND-UP
LONG & SHORT OF IT: The U. S. Government General Depot at Belle Mead, with 800 civilian employees, including a large number of Princeton area workers, has announced that it will abolish Army activity at the center as of June 30 and will turn over the depot to General Services Administration. . . . High-ranking Army spokesman said this week some employees undoubtedly will be absorbed by the conversion, but admitted no one will know for certain how many until "the total official story winds its way through Congressional channels." . . . GSA, incidentally, is a government activity devoted to the acquisition and storage of strategic defense materials, and to the provision of miscellaneous supplies to all federal agencies. . . . The State Division of Alcoholic Beverage Control this week notified the Peacock Inn, 20 Bayard Lane, that it must close its barroom for 20 days as a result of sales of liquor to five minors, ages 17 to 20, the night of the Princeton mouth football game (last November 23). . . . After pleading "no defense" in the ABC charge, the Peacock will shut its "Peacock Alley" doors from 7 a.m. next Tuesday to 7 a.m. February 21.

Borough police noted today that they have three different "bad check" cases currently under investigation, possibly an indication that some people are feeling the pinch of the so-called "mild recession". . . . The police merely urged merchants to be more careful before permitting strangers to cash checks. . . . residents of Nassau Estates in near-by Lawrence Township (who, incidentally, now receive Town Taxes free of charge each Thursday) are "up in arms" over the fact that many elementary school youngsters must walk down unlit sidewalks, much-traveled Princeton Pike to get to their daily classes. . . . The Board of Education has promised a hearing on the matter, plus funds for necessary bus accommodations in next year's school budget.

ALIGHT TOWN: Monday evening's "general alarm" fire in Princeton Borough resulted when Mrs. John Stalker noticed a flame and considerable smoke emerging from a defective oil burner in the apartment building above the stores at the northwest corner of Nassau and Moore Streets. . . . the burner got mighty hot, some smoke damage was done on the ceiling upstairs and in the basement, but E. B. Warren, owner of the building, figured it was mighty nice that nothing more serious occurred. . . . with some sort of statistical glee, the Borough Engineering Department reported this week that exactly 150 east-bound cars traveled newly constructed Avalon Place between 7:30 and 8 a.m. Tuesday. . . . John Jackson, responsible for the brief survey, noted that this figure tops the 131 drivers, headed for business in the downtown area, who said, back in March of 1956, that they would use the "link" road if it were built. . . . department officials thought the Tuesday showing was "fine" in view of the short time the street has been opened.

"This Is Goggle," the comedy fare scheduled for McCarter Theatre this weekend, will hold a special interest to the Columbus Boychoir School. . . . fifth-grader Teddy Kuck of the school originally was offered the title role (which he was unable to accept) after a two-month talent search in Princeton and elsewhere. . . . also, the Columbus Boychoir will be heard offstage in a tape-recorded rendition of "Auld Lang Syne," simulating a prep school glue club singing on parents' day.

TOPICAL TOM SAYS: Oh, my aching ears! This Bayard Lane is no place for the steady rumble of truck trucks. They ruin an otherwise fine residential area, especially at night when there are more of them—and thus more noise to bother people living anywhere near the much-traveled highway. What's more, the heavy vehicles constitute a real traffic danger, just as they do along other approaches to Princeton. There's been a lot of talk about a badly needed by-pass to remove these trucks from the Princeton scene, and State authorities have pretty well pinpointed the proposed new route in the vicinity of Kingston dam. Both the Borough and Township are greatly concerned with the by-pass problem, and the State insists it is looking for funds with which to purchase almost four miles of right-of-way land. The time has come, I say, for concerted action. Let's get the by-pass soon! (Town Topics Photo by Hank Chaschowski, Cartoon by Princeton Art Services)

TOPICS Of the Town

PBA ON THE MOVE
Organizing Credit File. Establishment of a confidential credit risk file, available only to members of the Princeton Business Association, was the No. 1 order of business Tuesday as the association's directors held their first meeting of 1958. Loar L. Quickle, PBA president, reported that firms belonging to the group already have indicated unusual enthusiasm for the project, endorsing its early stages with a deluge of mail at PBA headquarters.

Mr. Quickle emphasized that any Princeton business will be able to contribute names of "poor credit risks" to the file, but accredited law enforcers will be the only non-PBA members permitted to make use of the file's up-to-date contents. Several directors endorsed this idea, noting that existence of such source material, long-needed in Princeton, probably will induce more firms to join the association.

Director Edward Chloosey drew the plaudits of the group when he outlined progress made and decided to seek the animal's pseudonym of "Honor Bright" for contact purposes. That was last week.

This week, as the newspaper prepared to go to press, Honor Bright telephoned to report she had received six messages from Princetonians looking for their pooches, each hoping to find his pet, but none of the seekers could give a description that matched the stray. Meanwhile, she said, the dog had produced a litter of six puppies.

This story hasn't come to an end yet; however, the ingredients are there for a perfect ending: "And they all lived happily ever after."

Man's Best Friends
Once upon a time, there was a thoughtful Princeton woman who found a friendly stray dog, without identification tag, and decided to seek the animal's true owner by inserting a classified ad in TOWN TOPICS, using the appropriate pseudonym of "Honor Bright" for contact purposes. That was last week.

This week, as the newspaper prepared to go to press, Honor Bright telephoned to report she had received six messages from Princetonians looking for their pooches, each hoping to find his pet, but none of the seekers could give a description that matched the stray. Meanwhile, she said, the dog had produced a litter of six puppies.

as soon as all details have been worked out, advertising extolling Princeton as a fascinating place for a leisurely three or four-day visit will be placed in travel magazines and tourist guides.

Basing his observations on the success of the PBA-sponsored Christmas decorations on Palmer Square during the recent holidays, Mr. Quickle suggested an expanded program next December and his suggestion seemed to appeal to the directors. One of them, Edmund Cook, said he thinks there is ample space for a number of tasteful Christmas scenes in the downtown area (including the front of his offices, which he promised to donate and help decorate—and he went on record as favoring a series of scenes, depicting the Christmas story, down the length of Nassau Street.

Officers to be Chosen. Announcing that he will not run for reelection this year, Mr. Quickle told the directors he will appoint a nominating committee in the near future to consider a new slate of PBA candidates. The 1958 election probably will be conducted during the course of a dinner-dance, tentatively scheduled for early March, the president said.

At the request of several member firms, who have been bothered of late by different persons soliciting funds for the same cause, Mr. Quickle indicated the directors will take steps to correct the problem of "overlapping." The group may recommend PBA-authorized letters of introduction for solicitors, or some comparable solution to the irksome problem, Mr. Quickle observed.

President Quickle itemized the most important PBA accomplishments of his year in office:

- Preparation of PBA brochures, 3,000 of which will be distributed in Princeton next week.
- Ability to secure Borough Council approval of 50 short-term shopper parking spaces in the downtown area, plus stimulus of a move to get Council to act on interior block parking in the Tulane Street area.
- Answering of real estate and other requests for information, which averaged almost three per day.
- Financing of the aforementioned Christmas decoration on Palmer Square.
- Preparation of vital ground work for establishment of the aforementioned credit file.

TOWNSHIP DEVELOPMENTS
Master Plan Changes Filed. Certain amendments to the Township Planning Board's resolution of June 17, establishing part of the Master Plan, will be considered at the board's next meeting on Monday, February 3, at 8 p.m. in Township Hall. Copies of the proposed resolution are on file in the office of the Township clerk and are available for public inspection. All interested persons will be given an opportunity to be heard at the meeting.

Report from THE MAYOR

Another Open House. This week's "Tell It To The Mayor" session is set for Friday, January 24, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointments are necessary and—judge from last week's session—there are people in Princeton who welcome a chance to sit down and talk things over with the Mayor.

Last week, two young men were waiting when I arrived at 7:00. There wasn't an idle moment till I had good-night to my last visitors at 10:15. Based on notes, I found that 32 people had 14 separate interviews with individuals or small groups. And there were phone calls, too, from folks who had a quick question or wanted to be sure there'd be another chance this week.

Constructive Ideas. A few people warned me against "opening the doors" to what they thought would be "chronic complainers" or "crackpot schemes". Let me hasten to report that the Mayor started a lot, picked up some sound ideas, and had a chance to chat with some fine people. Their prompts and suggestions ranged across many Borough matters: streets, planning, zoning, recreation, meeting facilities, thoughts on snow removal and ice control, health services and so on.

Not all of these can be solved in a day or a week, but the views expressed will be most helpful in tackling some major Borough problems. Some questions, too, were answered on the spot. I was pleased that many of the callers wanted to enjoy the civil service said they, too, learned a lot.

On the Plus Side. The Council meeting last week despite dreary rain, brought a good crowd to Borough Hall, and they were treated to a discussion by Planning Board members of their requests for 1958. Mr. French and Mr. Ayle showed sketches of the proposed public housing project and answered questions.

More and more I hope we can make the public meetings of Council as a forum for getting out the facts on community problems. Without this, we can't be expected to make sound decisions, and the people can't be expected to understand what's going on.

That 1958 Budget. Over the weekend, the Finance Committee, the Borough Clerk, and the Mayor spent an intense four and a half hours reviewing the budget. I hope the budget will be more sessions, with questions to be tossed at the various agencies to justify their budget plans.

Next month, at the public hearings, I hope we'll have a good turnout to the Borough budget office, all our pocket-books, and we should be interested in what our tax dollars will "buy" in 1958.

To Halt the Tide. The Mayors and Chiefs of Police of all Jersey municipalities were summoned to Trenton last week by Governor Moore "to launch an out attack on the tide of rising traffic deaths." Chief Smith and I were impressed by the seriousness with which the group met the grim facts.

One startling fact: more than half the traffic deaths are pedestrians, most of them in towns on local streets, not on the fast-moving highways. Let's take special care in Princeton!

Topics Of The Town

The zoning ordinance regarding advertising signs in the Township should not be revised at the present time, according to the Township Committee's decision announced this week. It is a recommendation of the Board of Adjustment of December 3 that the possibility of possession of the ordinance should be considered by the Committee.

The Township Committee pointed out that the Board of Adjustment was not suggesting that billboards be permitted in the Township as recently reported. They were merely raising the question appropriate time to revise the ordinance to permit off-premises advertising signs, under proper standards and limitations. The

The calendar shows a full two months of winter left, but already Princeton has had more snow than in any corresponding season from 1949 through 1955. That's the Weather Man's report to disallow with the reminder that John Q. Public & Wife were running in headlining into the month that always averages a greater snowfall than any other February. He calls it, listing 73 inches as normal for the brief 28-day period.

So far, he recorded, 1957-58 has produced 13.9 inches of snow. Chief villain (if that is, the past the sled has been for-no-school age) was the storm on December 4, which produced 8.1 inches. Another 3.1 inches arrived on January 7, normal for a Princeton winter.

Committee stated that it based its decision on the conviction that revision would be in the best public interest.

NEW CHAPIN QUARTERS

Sale Agreement Signed. Boys and girls who attend the Chapin School will start the fall term in a new home. G. Victor Davis, president of the board of trustees of the school, signed an agreement of sale last week with Edgar Smith for the purchase of Mr. Smith's home on Princeton Pike at the corner of Province Line Road. A final closing date of June 1 has been set and the school will move in during the summer.

The house is well-suited to its new purpose, according to Mrs. Paul Smith, head-mistress. It has facilities for a library, cafeteria and office in addition to ample classroom space. There are three staircases and three outside entrances which will facilitate the flow of traffic. Outside, six acres of ground offer room for playgrounds and athletic fields.

Odyssey. Over the past seven years, the school has had three different principals. When Mrs. Frances Chapin died, classes were being held in her home on Chambers Terrace where they had been held since she started her school in 1931. Following her death, the school was incorporated as a private institution and its 45 students spent the next three years in a rented house at 11 Mercer.

By 1954, the school had outgrown its Mercer Street quarters and in 1955 it moved to its present rented quarters at "Snowden." Seventy-five boys and girls are now enrolled in classes ranging from kindergarten through eighth grade. There is a small nursery group as well. Mrs. Smith emphasizes that the school will retain its policy of maximum individual attention for each child, and that the enrollment will be limited to ten children per class. The curriculum will continue to focus on a thorough grounding in reading, writing and arithmetic with special emphasis on reading.

The building to which the school will move has a wing built about 1860 by the Phillips family, possibly on land belonging to the original William Penn grant. Later additions date from around 1810, 1830 and 1860.

INVITATION TO COURT

"Road Rascals" Asked to Sit In. At the Township Court session Tuesday night, an unusual invitation was issued to the "Road Rascals," a group of boys dedicating themselves to give young motorists a good name. Judge Louis R. Gerber invited all members of the group to appear at his next court session, Tuesday, February 1, at 7:30 a.m. "I am interested in hearing the views of these excellent young people on law enforcement and safety on the highways," Mr. Gerber said. He added that he had learned about the "Road Rascals" through an article in TOWN TOPICS two weeks ago. "For further information," the "Road Rascals," see page 16).

Mr. Gerber stressed the fact ter is 234 inches, so there is every likelihood that the eight weeks ahead will see that figure topped. Only five more inches will send the total over last year's 184.

It isn't by any means necessary to have a long memory to recall the winter that brought the most snow since '88. It was no farther back than 1955-56, with a 15-inch fall in March raising the total for the season to 388. Inches. If it isn't snowing, it's cold—the Man admits. For example, the high for January is 54 degrees, and the average for the month is six below normal.

What with this week's rain added to last week's inch-plus precipitation for the month has already reached the "quota" of the normal of 3.4 — but home owners, farmers and industrial interests alike were all willing to put up with more as a hedge against another drought.

The weekend forecast called for colder weather Thursday, rain or snow Friday and temperatures dipping again Saturday and Sunday. It's that time of year, the Men said, almost stoically.

that he welcomes all high school students and other young people to sessions of his court to help them get an idea of how the judicial system operates.

"It may also give them some indication of what happens when highway safety rules are being followed," he pointed out.

This week's court was short, despite the fact that it was the first of the bi-weekly sessions scheduled by the magistrate. Two out-of-town drivers were fined on charges of careless driving, one of them in connection with a three-car accident near Carnegie Lake.

UNBALANCED DIET

Complete Menu Planned. Gourmets, cooks for gourmets and others attending the cooking demonstration by Mrs. Eleanor as, for the first time is scheduled for 8 p.m. next Wednesday in the Princeton School auditorium, will see a complete five-course meal prepared each time. Mrs. Ayle will prepare the food, and special sauces on three successive Wednesdays, beginning next Wednesday.

The courses will not necessarily be foods which go together well, since a greater variety can be achieved by random selection. Soufflés, Caesar salad, oysters poached a laington (an aspic entrée), crab-filled crepes, roasted beef birds with vegetable garnish, supremes de volailles en sauce, broths of chicken and chocolate run butter cake will be shown to the audience.

Mrs. Lucas of the Cordon Bleu will be working with food from Mrs. E. Bros. Super Market and fish from Plaza, with Broten milk products and Christian Bros. wines used in the sauces. Hamburger's will supply the refrigerator, storage cabinet, utensils and containers; Nassau Apartment will supply the display board; and Heereman's the plants decorating the stage.

Tickets for the series, home agent of the Mercer County Extension Service, will assist Mrs. L. Tickets for the series, home agent of the Mercer County Extension Service, will assist Mrs. L. Tickets for the series, home agent of the Mercer County Extension Service, will assist Mrs. L.

SHOPPING CENTER ELECTS

Officers Named for 1958. The Princeton Shopping Center Merchants Association has re-elected Edward Sussick, manager of S.S. Kresge, as its president for another 12 months. Also continued in office were J. P. Meyer, manager of Embury's, as vice-president and Willis G. Beatty, Jr., manager of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company branch, as treasurer.

John Read will begin his first term as secretary of the association. He represents the Household Finance Corporation.

The board of directors includes John A. Archer, University Laundry and Cleaners; Joseph J. Center Stations; Herbert Kane, Edwards Jewelers; Milton Milne, News of the Week; and Al Roth, Weiss Clothes. Officers of the association also serve as directors.

The Best Service is a most important factor, yet some car buyers underestimate this advice until it is too late. The inconvenience of poor warranty service and the lack of it in addition to receiving the personalized attention we strive to offer can not be appraised in dollars and cents. However, there is no harm in comparing prices. Just don't sign up until you have had time to analyze the deal and the terms. The buyer that must be conservative can not afford to gamble when buying a car. However, if you must gamble be sure the odds are in your favor.

Time For Another "Up"?

Academy Award-winner Kim Herkat (above), who has scored personal triumphs in four Broadway plays since her sensational stage debut as Marion Brando's child bride in "A Streetcar Named Desire," will head a talented, 12-member cast in "This Is Goggle," scheduled for a pre-Broadway tryout run at McCarter Theatre this weekend. Her co-star will be James Daly, veteran of 400-plus television dramas and several Broadway productions, principally "Born Yesterday" and "The Glass Menagerie." "Goggle," devoted to the trials and tribulations encountered in the "growing up" process (male variety), will have its world premiere at McCarter at 8 p.m. this Thursday. While good seats for the show's three subsequent performances will be hard to obtain by the time readers take note of the fact in this column, the theatre's box office crew reported as late as mid-week that plenty of tickets still are available for the first performance.

Directed and produced by Otto Preminger, whose last Broadway effort was another comedy, "The Noon Wine," "Goggle" will complete its premiere run with shows at 8:30 p.m. Friday and 2:30 and 8:30 p.m. Saturday. It is slated for its New York unveiling sometime next month, after tryouts in two bigger eastern cities.

Mr. Preminger's latest motion picture venture, "Tristesse," which opened in New York this past week, received anything, but overwhelming acclaim from the critics. Undaunted, the veteran director-producer, used to his share of critical ups and downs, figured this is the week for another "up."

News Of The THEATRES

MCCARTER THEATRE

Israeli Dancers Coming. "Nothing remotely like it has been seen in these parts before," the New York Times wrote of Inbal, the National Dance Theatre of Israel which has extended its Broadway engagement "by popular demand" and will include Princeton on its coast-to-coast tour, playing at McCarter Theatre for three performances February 13, 14 and 15.

"Out of deference to the religious customs of these distinguished cultural ambassadors, there will be no Friday evening or Saturday afternoon performances," Richard Pleasant, one of McCarter's managing directors, announced. The three shows will commence at 8:30 Thursday night, 2:30 Friday afternoon and 8:30 Saturday night.

While noting one of the most unusual schedules in McCarter annals, Mr. Pleasant also stressed the "public service" pricing for the much-lauded attraction. For both evenings, over half the orchestra floor will be $3.75, with a central section at $4.50 (compared to $4.80 for the entire floor of the larger Martin Beck Theatre in New York). Matinee at McCarter is priced at $2.75 and $3.25 in the orchestra, whereas the whole floor in New York is $4.00 — with seats difficult to obtain for the balance of the run.

Last week's Time magazine summarized the rave reviews the company has received in Europe and New York: "U.S. audiences, regardless of their background, are likely to be similarly moved by the dancers from Yemen. Like the ancient Greek drama, the ritual pageantry of Inbal speaks in a basic tongue that everybody can understand."

After the destruction of the Second Temple, while most Jews started migrating toward Europe, a small band fled to Yemen at the southern tip of Arabia. There, for 2,000 years they lived cut off from the Western world, maintaining their cultural heritage and ancient faith intact. They had one book, the Bible, and they lived by it. From the Orient they borrowed outward coloration, design and art forms, adding nothing more. Exodus had foretold that they would return to Zion on eagles' wings. In 1947, the Yemenite Jews were repatriated to Israel en masse — on the wings of Globemasters. None had ever seen an airplane before, but there was no fear, no hesitation. The prophesy had come to pass.

Critics of Inbal are uniformly agreed that never before has a so-called "folk" or "ethnic" importation had so much variety (or brevity in each number). Three main strains are notable: the Oriental-Yemenite; the Biblical ("Song of Deborah," for instance); and the modern exaltation in the new conquest of the new-old Israel homeland. The McCarter program will be exactly the same as that in New York, and also at the Royal Opera, Covent Garden.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

Playmill Again Renovated. The Community Players have again re-done the Playmill on Alexander Street for George Bernard Shaw's "You Never Can Tell," scheduled for February 13, 14, 15 and 20, 21, 22. After serving as a London court-room earlier this season, the Playmill will become a theater in the round for its next presentation.

The Playmill has no fixed stage, no proscenium arch and no row of foot-lights, so that it presents a different appearance each time one enters through the red-walled lobby for each play. The transition from the court-room to the theater in the round is a good example of this.

As a court-room, the Playmill had railings with banisters, built-in book-cases, steps to various levels and large courtroom fixtures. All that kept it from being the actual thing was the attorney's chambers, which were shown off to one side.

When the Glotio Frescoes were presented at Christmas-time, stage appeared to be in the usual place, but a lecture was revealed forward to one side. Unseen and on high, a chorus sang.

THE PLACE THAT GRACE BUILT: Lana Turner and Lee Phillips play two of many varied lovers in "Peyton Place," motion picture version of Grace Metalious' stormy novel which will continue through Tuesday at the Princeton Playhouse.

As a theater in the round, the seats are on all four sides of the room, with the stage in the middle of the floor. Director Mario Siletti has chosen this form for the Shaw play because it identifies the spectator more closely with the action.

THE FLAYHOUSE
Peyton Place (Jan. 23-28), as every red-blooded as well as hot-blooded American knows by now, is the world saga of a small New England town that made Grace Metalious a popular novelist everywhere — and an unpopular "squealer" up in New England. In its screen version, most of the last is missing and, as a result, much lustre is added. The book really isn't very good at all, despite the hullabaloo raised over its obscenity, but the film proves quite rewarding. No Academy Award winner, to be sure; yet, a motion picture which by turns is heartwarming and brutal, happy and tragic, zeany and sun-clean — which, in the final analysis, is a small town come to life.

Thanks in no small measure to Jerry Wald's astute production work and Mark Robson's bold and clever direction, a cast of old and new hands blends smoothly to convey a success out of John Michael Hayes' screenplay, which very wisely substitutes suggestion for frankness in most instances. Lana Turner, Lloyd Nolan and Betty Field are the veterans who put their best feet forward, with Mice Turner earning a special accolade inasmuch as she has stumbled frequently in recent years. Of the newcomers, Russ Tamblyn, Hope Lange and Diane Varsi are particularly effective and promising. The twin technical advances of CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color add much to the overall endeavor, heightening the Vermont town of "Peyton Place," which was photographed in Maine because, according to Hollywood's finest, Maine looks more like New England than Vermont does.

Old Yeller (Jan. 23-Feb. 1) isn't going to be around as long as Lassie, since the poor critter picks up hydrophobia fighting a wolf and has to be shot in his screen debut, but it's a safe bet many youngsters — and a lot of adults, too — will remember the faithful pooch for a long while after his only movie. "Old Yeller" is mighty good to the Texas family he adopts. In addition to the diseased wolf, he battles a mother bear, a group of boys and an irritated cow, all to protect various members of the clan. Of great importance, the dog's actions are believable — and so are those of the humans who romp through the screenplay with him. It's warm-hearted, appealing entertainment, concocted with the usual Walt Disney finesse and excellent taste.

Kevin Corcoran and Tommy Kirk, "introduced" in this latest Technicolor Disney creation, are particularly outstanding as the two youngsters of the Texas family. They perform well, skipping the sweetness and precociousness so familiar with too many child actors. Dorothy McGuire is splendid as the patient, understanding mother, while Fess ("Davy Crockett") Parker is fine in the very brief role of the father. Also helpful to the overall success of the production are Jeff York and Chuck Connors, other members of the small but notable cast; Robert Stevenson, a clever director who doesn't permit corn to starch up the proceedings, and, of course, those unsung individuals responsible for the Disney touch.

THE GARDEN
And God Created Woman (Jan. 23-25), originally done in French but with English dubbed in, brings Brigitte Bardot to Princeton in a role that will not soon be forgotten. Portraying an unrepentant, amorous girl who wrecks havoc wherever she goes, Miss Bardot offers a superb performance. Her dramatic story sizes as it covers sex, seduction, temptation and redemption in a South of France setting. Perhaps the "Peyton" of that area, it is vivid, adult material, frankly presented and handsomely photographed in Eastman Color and CinemaScope.

A BID FOR SMITH

Going, Going, Gone! This Saturday's Smith College Club Auction (Miss Fine's gym, 10:30-4:30) is likely to prove fatal to chronic auction-goers. The variety of objects is extraordinary, the quality excellent, the bidding — very probably — quite exciting, and the profits — very probably — quite high.

You could start out by bidding for a Victorian chair in carved walnut with a yellow tufted satin seat and back. Once you have the chair, you may as well go on to bid for the two original Godey prints. And it shouldn't be hard to justify the purchase of a butler's stand in mahogany with very old brass pins holding it together. It stands about waist high, is rather like a suitcase rack, and is obviously very useful.

A five-by-six-foot Paisley shawl is very, very old. Its colors are orange and various shades of green. Blues and green predominate in a cloisonne plate that's probably 300 years old. We aren't sure what colors predominate in an 1855 Army Springfield rifle, but go to the auction and see. You might look over a really incredible green Tiffany glass lampshade — a true giant of a thing. A round Sheffield platter might be more useful in the long run. It's about eight inches in diameter with a white enamel liner and a one-inch border. Another Sheffield piece is a seven-inch tureen, oblong.

You can bid on a pair of men's boots, size 7½ E. (there's a man we'd like to see), a five-gallon egg crock or four bags of camel coal. Better bring the station wagon.

Patent Pegging. If you think a sharply toothed shoe looks sharp, wait until you see it in black patent leather. Huli's, 240 Nassau, will bow you in through the door, and you'll find patent shoes for spring with the highest heels you can imagine, or a high Louis. Toes come to the point, and the long effect of the long toe is mitigated by some excellent bows.

You might as well buy a whole collection of bows because they are only $1 and $1.50 each. Some are already on the plain pumps, others are ready for you to put on. There are boxy patent ones and bows that are just ties of patent leather. Buy one with a metal border, or a sleek one in silk. You may prefer a black grosgrain rosette or a corded bow like Christmas ribbon candy.

The vast collection at Huli's includes some in navy calf or red calf, too. The red bows are a sort of Chinese tinsel, if there is such a vegetable.

Next to black patent pumps, Huli's has a black patent sandal, straight out of the past (twenties? thirties?) with a pointed toe and a wishbone-shaped strap alignment. All these shoes are $11.95 — $12.95.

Try on a Benedictine pump. It's pale, bronzy tan, in calf with — Continued on Page 8

For the Record

For those of you who have something to immortalize, The Music Shop, 16 Nassau Street, has a new department through which Kenneth Wight, well-known local audio engineer, will make his recording equipment available.

Mr. Wight is particular interested in projects of considerable volume, like recording a whole wedding, for example, or making a few tapes to show new salesmen how to sell. School band concerts, rehearsals of church choirs to be played back and dissected later, sports events, private amateur musicales — what's on your calendar?

Over the past ten years, Mr. Wight has managed to keep quite busy making recordings for Triangle shows, the Princeton Symphony, the Columbus Boy Choir, the Nassos and Tigreros.

He has also worked with the Army, Navy and Marine Corps and has made the sound track for many TV films. He's done lots of recordings for Princeton musicians, and he speaks of his service as "done professionally for professional people." He'll give the same professional service for smaller jobs.

MUSIC In Princeton

GOODMAN, SOLOIST

He Will Play Mozart. When "The King of Swing," clarinetist Benny Goodman, appears at McCarter Theatre on Monday, it won't be in his capacity as a great jazz musician. The work he will interpret will be Mozart's Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra (K. 622) in A Major.

Although Mr. Goodman made his name as a jazz musician as leader since 1934 of what soon became the world's first and best "swing" band, he has always maintained his interest in classical music. He made a number of recordings with the Budapest String Quartet and in 1939 commissioned Bela Bartok to write an original work for him. Entitled "Contrasts," it was recorded in 1910 by Goodman and Joseph

SWING TO CLASSICS: Benny Goodman will appear at soloist Monday with Princeton Symphony.

Seliger who appeared here this season during the Friends of Music's contemporary violin series.

Mr. Goodman has also commissioned clarinet concertos from Paul Hindemith and Aaron Copland. He has played with great success as soloist with the New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Rochester, Buffalo and other symphony orchestras. His appearance here Monday will, of course, be with the Princeton Symphony conducted by Nicholas Harsanyi.

The orchestra will play Divertimento on Hungarian Themes by Leo Weiner, "Quiet City" by Aaron Copland, and Haydn's Symphony No. 85, "La Reine." Tickets are available at the University Store and at the box office at McCarter before the concert.

Born May 30, 1909, in Chicago as the eighth of 11 children of an immigrant tailor, Mr. Goodman acquired his first clarinet at the age of ten. The only real teaching he ever had as a young man was two years spent studying with Franz Schrepp, a Chicago Symphony musician.

At the age of 40, Mr. Goodman decided that his classical technique could benefit from studies with his good friend, Reginald Kell, and began lessons with him.

He had to alter his complete technique to do so, switching from holding the mouthpiece between his front teeth and lower lip to the use of both lips. From the unanimous critical acclaim following his appearances after acquiring the new technique, he found his daily practice of three to six hours well worth it.

It's New To Us

a bow, or cut with sling heel and open toe. Spring's most conservative shoe is a navy pump in calf with a toe that points modestly. Navy has been used again in a very pointed shoe with a shield of leather up the vamp and a small, very small pepper-colored buckle.

Here's a new shoe called a Horse-Run Flat because it has four white buttons on its flat bow. Nobody would ever guess its name to look at it because the buttons are not a diamond, but a good solid rectangle. Well, it's a nice little shoe anyhow, in red or black. Other flats in red or black have a lattice or a T-step, one has a cut-out vamp with a flat bow.

Punched pig walking pumps are done in a color called alabaster—a kind of rich cream. The shoes have cubin heels, some with a sling back. All are walking-height.

Florida Orange. That is not an orange crate in the Mary Chapin window on Chambers Street. It's the box that symbolizes Bill Atkinson's new line of cruise wear, designed to be worn south of Atlantic City. Colors are orange, turquoise and white, mostly, some times all together, sometimes alone.

Cotton surah shirtwaists has a small stand-up collar, full skirt and a luminous handkerchief plaid of coral, gold and pink (turquoise and limes, too). A matching playsuit, bloomer style, is lined and can go near the water.

Batik print makes a sundress with full skirt, cummerbund and skinny straps. Comes in orange, too. For travel, buy a two-pieceingham dress in turquoise or caramel. It's a shirt like some tucks into a narrow, pearl-beribboned skirt. Both prices: $19.95.

Batik appears again in a bathing suit, and Mary Chapin has a bleached bone of a suit made of chunk white cotton in a wide rib that looks like corduroy. Short shorts and skin-tight slacks match it. Over all, wear a white terry poncho with orange or turquoise sunbursts.

Bill Atkinson's natural linen skirts are straight or pored, and his wrap-around in drip-dry cotton cover-up jacket in the same blue has a zip front and shawl collar.

With those skirts you could wear a silk shirt in the coral and gold stripes of the shirtwaist we mentioned a white back. Dresses to match these shirts will be in the shop by the time you start packing.

A Knife and a Fork. Once a year the big silver companies tool up and have a fine holiday for themselves, making all the old patterns they discontinued years ago. LaVake-Reid reminds you that this season has now come, and if you want to fill in the gaps in your inactive pattern, now is the time to do it.

Goodman, Towle, Luxt, International are all represented in the LaVake-Reid stock, and you may place your order until March 1. Some of these old inactive patterns go back to 1850, did you know?

For young housewives just assembling a collection of flatware, the shop offers its Silver Club. Buy a place setting, pay $4 a month, and use the silver while you pay. After you've bought four, you get a free chest to keep them in.

Grandmothers, anyone? Those grandmother bracelets are very popular for Valentine's Day, and LaVake-Reid says you'd better order yours right now. A grandmother bracelet is a bracelet with medallions that bear the name and birthdate of each grandchild, with space in between for newcomers.

ARTISTED VOLUME is based on results. That's why TOWN TOPICS carries more classified advertising each week in the year than all other Princeton papers combined.

Stella (January 27-29), in Greek with English titles, is the first Greek-made motion picture to play in Princeton in memory — and it arrives without much advance notice. The film import introduces Melina Mercouri to American audiences, which is well if you happen to have toured the Continent recently and know something about the young lady. Otherwise, it becomes necessary to ponder the words of Princeton graduate William K. Zinner, the Herald Tribune's able motion picture critic, who assures that the movie "pulses with life!"

FILM SURVEY

Who Goes to the Movies? The motion picture audience of today is predominantly a young one, 52 per cent of all moviegoers during an average week being under 20 years of age and 72 per cent being under 30. So reported Joseph C. Bevis, president of Quinlan Research Corporation of Princeton, to the board of directors of the Motion Picture Association of America at a special meeting last week.

Commenting on the report, planned from the first large-scale survey of public attitudes toward movies and attendance habits ever completed for the film industry, Mr. Bevis said ORC's "survey week" represents an average week from mid-June to mid-July 1957. The researcher informed Eric Johnston, MPAA president, that the survey was carried out by means of face-to-face interviews with 5,021 persons, making up a representative nationwide sample of the population 15 years of age and older.

Frequent movie-going is concentrated in a relatively small segment of the population, according to ORC's findings. Those who attend the movies once a week or more often constitute only 15 per cent of the public, but they account for 82 per cent of the theatre admissions during an average week.

Movie-going is a group activity. Of the admissions studied during the survey week, 87 per cent were accounted for by people who went with someone else; only 13 per cent of the admissions were purchased by people who went alone. At drive-ins, 88 per cent of admissions were groups of two or more people.

Newspaper Ads Important. Asked if they had noticed any kinds of advertising of movies during the last few weeks, 58 per cent of the respondents to the survey recalled such ads in newspapers. Television ads and theatre signs were mentioned by 40 per cent and 32 per cent, respectively. Newspaper ads and previews in theatres were regarded by the public as the most reliable ways of finding out whether a picture is a good one to see. A fifth of the people interviewed said that the last time they went to the movies they did not know what picture was being shown before they left for the theatre. Among those who did know what was playing, most said they found out about the picture from newspapers.

Film-goers are more interested in the story than in the star, the survey revealed. Of those interviewed, 45 per cent indicated that the movie is about as important to them in deciding whether to see it, while 38 per cent said who is in it is more important to them. An additional 27 per cent observed that both are equally important.

More than half the interviewees report their attendance at movies has declined in the last few years, television being cited more than any other cause as a reason for staying away. Only in the 15-19 year age group do a substantial proportion now go to the movies more often than they did three or four years ago.

ETS Appoints Sterling, G. Dykeman Sterling, G. Dykeman Sterling, an executive with the New York investment firm of Scudder, Stevens and Clark for the last 20 years, will become treasurer of Educational Testing Service next month. Dr. Henry Chauncey, ETS president, has announced that Mr. Sterling will assume his duties here on February 3.

Head of the Tax and Estate Department of his New York firm for the past 15 years, Mr. Sterling is a 1923 graduate and former trustee of Williams College. President of his class, he has devoted much of his time to work on behalf of the academic institutions he has attended.

His wife, Mrs. Gertrude W. Sterling, is a 1927 graduate of Smith College and active on its behalf in scholarship work in Maplewood, their present home. They have two children, Peter, a 1953 graduate of Williams, and Ann, now in school in Maplewood.

Chance for a Cook Portrait. Kingston's well-known artist, Peter G. Cook, will paint a 16 by 20 inch portrait of the winner of the raffle at the Smith College Scholarship auction. The drawing for the oil painting will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday during the auction in Miss Fine's School gym. Mr. Cook received the Century medal for a portrait of his wife and a National Arts Club prize for a seascape this year. A painting of a former Princeton resident, Peggy Dodson, won him both a Boston Arts Festival prize and a Portland Arts Festival prize.

One of Mr. Cook's portraits will be on display this week in Bamberger's window and another at the Little Gallery on Palmer Square. Chances on the portrait may be obtained at the auction, at the Little Gallery, or from club members, headed by Mrs. John Davies, Mrs. Herbert Bailey, Mrs. J. R. Goeke of Kingston and Mrs. Robert Wicks of Lawrenceville.

Birth List. Fourteen children, eight of them boys, were born to Princeton area parents at Princeton Hospital last week.

Parents of sons are Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood J. Thomas, 78 Leigh Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Olsson, 238 Moore Street; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Bradley, 82½ Leigh Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Enmann, Province Line Road; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Abelson, 137 Loomis Court; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Erdman, 539 Princeton-Kingston Road; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard F. ### NURSERY SCHOOL REPORT

Past Year Went Smoothly. The past year for the Princeton Nursery School on Lehigh Avenue has been "a record of a smoothly operating institution, blessed with a devoted, hardworking staff and backed by an equally cooperative Board of Trustees," according to the report of the president, Mrs. Gilbert Lea. Each functioning committee was given credit by Mrs. Lea for "service beyond the call of duty" during the past year.

Officers and new board members for the coming year have been elected. They are: Mrs. Lea, president; Mrs. Roland Ely, vice-president; Mrs. G. A. Cluett Jr., secretary; Mrs. Donald Feland, treasurer; and Mrs. Lee Bristol, assistant treasurer. Members of the board are: Mrs. Benjamin Anderson, Mrs. Fruland, Frederick Millholland, Mrs. Frank Mountcastle, Mrs. Ralph Ritchie, Mrs. J. T. Vollbrecht, Mrs. Howard White, Jr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wirsig.

The school has been running at its capacity of 40 children. One of the children is handicapped by blindness, and he by cerebral palsy. The school's director, Miss Evangeline Miller, has taken extension courses during the past two summers to learn how to help such handicapped children. During the year, the few necessary changes to bring the school up to the fire inspection requirements were made. A washing machine was installed, contributed by Mrs. Roland Ely, and considerable renovation of the kitchen and cook's quarters was made.

A new hot water heater was acquired through the help of the Penn Neck Community Club, one of many donations received by the school. The school has also built a new sand box. It counts on being able to continue effectively in its present building, Mrs. Lea's report said.

Scout Rally on Friday. A sack race and a giant "Tug of War" will be featured at the annual Boy Scout Rally of the Stony Brook district on Friday. It will be held in Dillon Gym at the University campus from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

A series of competitions with prizes will be held, including uniform knowledge and identification, blanket roll and toss, and a fishing contest. All boys will participate in the "Tug of War." The rally will close with a song-fest and the presentation of awards to the winners by Dr. Thomas Harvey, chairman of the district. Parents, their guests and all other friends of scouting are invited.

Borough Court Action. R. D. Worby, 48, of 329 Witherspoon Street, was found guilty in Borough Court Tuesday of driving under the influence of liquor. He paid a $225 fine and had his license revoked for two years, Magistrate Theodore T. Tams presided.

Irene Tomara, 59, of 74 Russell Road paid $30 for leaving the scene of an accident. Irene Waters, 52, of 134 Mercer Street, was fined $30 for careless driving in criminal court. Vera L. Murphy, 18, of 417 Alexander Street, was placed on probation for one year. She pleaded guilty to a charge of petty larceny.

NOT LONG FOR THIS WORLD: Most teenagers disagree vehemently and the nation's airways belie the point, but these three music-lovers are convinced rock 'n' roll is a passing fancy—a fad that will be long gone in several years. Sharing the conviction and a few laughs on the subject are (left to right) Aino Engstrand, John Morreale and Mayanne L. For some disconcerting opinions, see Question of the Week below. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Alan Richards)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think rock 'n' roll is here to stay, and how does it rate on your hit parade?

Location: The Music Shop and Nassau Street.

Mayanne L., Cherry Valley Road, record department at The Music Shop: To me, I don't think so. The way I feel, rock 'n' roll will last just as long as teenagers are in their present mood. I don't even consider it music in the sense that we understand music. I'm an art student and I think I appreciate pretty good music. From this, you can tell I don't even listen to rock 'n' roll.

Bob Speedy, 24 Gullick Road, senior at Princeton High School: I believe it's here to stay for a good long while because it's so easy to dance to. I know it's my favorite dance music, even though I don't care about listening to it very much. Actually, slow popular music and classical music both rate above rock 'n' roll on my hit parade. And I'm partial also to jazz and Nat (King) Cole's singing.

John Morreale, Trenton, record department at The Music Shop: I feel it's a phase, such as the boogie-woogie and short-lived calypso eras, and I think it's something the high school age group in particular enjoys. I'd guess the phase will pass in another three or four years. I can't say I dislike all of it; in fact, I like some of the rock 'n' roll tunes with lyrics that are half-way sensible. From a business standpoint, I love the music—rock 'n' roll records are selling very well.

Jean Perkins, 256 Edgerstone Road, freshman at Princeton High School: Of course, it's here to stay! I like it tremendously, and I must admit it's my favorite kind of music. I said "like" because I love Frank Sinatra the most.

Jimmy Martin, 224-B Marshall Street, graduate student in chemistry at Princeton University: I think it's here, obviously, here as far as staying it's hard to say. Personally, I don't like it. But enough young people seem to enjoy listening to it and get a thrill out of it, and the record companies are making money out of it. I think it's a fad and will fade, but I don't know when. As it goes, it certainly will be replaced by something equally fantastic. In the last ten to fifteen years, the music fads have swung from one extreme to another.

Prosper Cima, 228-C Harrison Street, freshman at Princeton High School: I'm positive it's here to stay—no doubt about it. It's the greatest. It's responsible for attracting a big crowd at the teenage canteen every week, and it's a good reason why I go to almost every Saturday. You can say definitely that rock 'n' roll is tops on my hit parade!

Aino Engstrand, Rosedale Road, governess: No, I don't think it's here to stay. I don't like it at all. It'll probably be around a little while longer—maybe a couple of more years. But, as far as

Staying Power

Elvis Presley, greatest of all the rock 'n' rollers, is Army-bound, which means rock 'n' roll could suffer quite a setback if the guitar-strummin' singer happens to pick the wrong first sergeant. And there are other indications that a war against rock 'n' roll is being waged constantly and determinedly—including the walls of many adult viewers and listeners whenever rock 'n' roll prompts a bit of television disliking.

But rock 'n' roll is not to be regarded lightly. It has been with America for a lengthy spell now, and has survived a considerable amount of criticism. Record and motion picture companies, forced to admit it represents big money, seem content to keep grinding out monuments to rock 'n' roll. And teenagers, who are responsible for bringing contentment to the record and movie companies, love it (see Question of the Week, this page).

Let anyone else think the rock is about to stop rolling, a look at a list of the nation's top tunes should suffice. No. 1 right now is "At The Hop," a rock 'n' roller from the word go," man.

I'm concerned, there's nothing appealing about it. Progressive jazz is my favorite form of music. Rock 'n' roll belongs at the bottom of my list.

Bobbie Blai-dell, 401 Walnut Lane, freshman at Princeton High School: I really think it's here to stay and I enjoy dancing to it but it's not my favorite form of music. Maybe I'm not in the teenage groove, but classical and Broadway show music are my favorites. So, I suppose rock 'n' roll gets the No. 3 spot on my hit parade.

CURRICULUM CHANGE
Algebra Offered in 8th Grade.
Eighth grade children who have demonstrated superior mathematical ability may be able to take one semester of algebra, starting February 1, in Borough and Township Schools. The addition to the mathematics curriculum of this one-semester course has been recommended by the Committee on Curriculum Revision and Coordination.
Composed of administrators and teachers from Princeton Borough and Township, West Windsor Township, Montgomery Township and Hopewell Borough, the committee grew out of a joint Borough-Township meeting held during this past summer. It is concerned with the revision of the entire elementary-secondary curriculum.

Upon successful completion of the new algebra course, students will be placed in an advanced course of algebra I when entering the ninth grade in Princeton High School, according to the committee's recommendations. Long-range plans call for the expansion of the program to one full year of algebra in grade 8. The committee has agreed that in order to qualify for algebra in the eighth grade, a student would have to demonstrate ability in mathematics at least one year above national norms as measured in standard tests. Other tests deemed by each school, as well as the teacher's recommendation, would be factors for selection, and the student's general academic aptitude would also be considered.

Coordinated by Chester R. Stroup, assistant superintendent of the Borough-Schools, the committee counts among its Princeton members William Rhodes, principal of the High School; Merrill Shepherd, head of the mathematics department at the High School; Howard B. Waxwood and Mrs. Alice Reed, respectively principal and mathematics teacher at Witherspoon; William Parcell, assistant superintendent for the Township; John McKenna and Mrs. Ruth Law, respectively principal and mathematics teacher at Valley Road.

First Aid Officers, Albert Tolo will serve as president of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue —Continued on Page 15

Squad, Inc. to 1958. Other officers include Raymond J. Rodwell, vice-president; Leonard F. Kraus, financial and recording secretary, and John P. Golden, treasurer.

John Norman will captain the squad, assisted by John J. Gallagher, first lieutenant; John J. Golden, head driver; John E. Rodwell, assistant head driver; and John J. Koleski, Jr., scrap book custodian. Trustees for next year will be John Markuson, Richard E. McCloskey and John E. Rodwell.

The squad answered 68 calls during 1957, 83 of which were out of town trips; worked over 1,000 man-hours, and travelled 6,630 miles. Contributions to date for the Annual Fund Drive total $9,250.

"Open House" Planned. A number of homes of historic or architectural interest in Princeton and its vicinity will be open to the public at an "Open House in Princeton" on Saturday, May 17. It is being planned by the Radcliffe and Mount Holyoke Clubs of Princeton to raise money for the scholarship funds of the colleges for girls from this area.

Mrs. Thomas M. Page of Lawrenceville will be general chairman. Other chairmen will be: Mrs. Werner Hollmann, Mrs. Darrell F. Johnson, Mrs. Burton McKel, Mrs. Paul E. Orr, Miss Phyllis Riley, Miss Edna Tilton, Mrs. Paul Yvisaker, Mrs. Charles G. Sellers and Mrs. John B. Bankin. Mrs. Benjamin F. Houston, president of the Trenton-Princeton Mount Holyoke Club, and Mrs. William H. Cherry, president of the Radcliffe Club of Princeton, will assist the committee chairman.

FUND DINNER SET

Date is February 5. The 20th annual meeting and dinner for the United Community Fund will be held Wednesday, February 5, at Trinity Church. Starting at 7 p.m., the dinner is open to all contributors to the fund. The Chapel Choir of Westminster Choir College will entertain.

The business portion of the meeting will feature a report on the 1957 campaign by H. C. Sturhahn, campaign chairman, and the report of the president, John P. Poe. The nominating committee, consisting of Benjamin F. Bunn, chairman; George Cook III, Mrs. N. Howell Furman, Edgar M. Gemmell and Mrs. Margaret Nevin, will present a slate of new officers and trustees.

Arrangements for the annual meeting have been made by a committee headed by Taylor Woodward. Other members of the committee are Mrs. D. A. Fruland, Miss Esther Dilworth and Mrs. John V. Fine.

The fund is short about $10,000 of its goal of $170,000. To date, $15,000 has been collected, and additional receipts are expected to add up to between $3,000 and $5,000. Many persons have responded to the request for extra "victory gifts" to reduce the shortage. Others willing to help are asked to mail their contributions to the Princeton United Community Fund, Box 201, Princeton.

Student Day at Valley Road. The annual Student Day, when pupils at Valley Road School assume the role of their teachers, was held Wednesday. The sixth, seventh and eighth grades participated in the program.

The student teachers proved themselves capable and versatile in the performance of their duties. Some conducted experiments or gave tests, while others supervised projects and gave lectures based on their teachers' plans.

Nurses Aide Course to Start. A Red Cross Volunteer Nurses Aide training course will be held at Princeton Hospital. Sponsored by the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross, the course will start next Monday evening. After graduation the aides will serve in Princeton Hospital. Information about the class may be obtained by calling Red Cross Headquarters, WA 4-2404, or WA 4-1535 after 6 p.m.

Polio Workers Announced. Mrs. Hugh Samson and Mrs. Robert A. Gilbert have been selected chairwomen of the Mothers March of Dimes in Lawrenceville. Richard J. Coffee is chairman of the March of Dimes for Lawrenceville.

The Lawrenceville School campaign will be directed by Mrs. Frank K. Heymer, Joseph C. Goding Jr. will head the poster and canister section, and Mrs. Alice Bailey will be in charge of the elementary school collections. Mr. Coffee is directing mail solicitations and general gifts.

Cubs Get Awards. Den Four was selected den of the month at the January meeting of Cub Scout 50. Each den presented two or more tricks of magic and plans were made to hold a father and son dinner in February.

Awards were given by Cubmaster Peter Grosz to Fred Schoch, Clifford Ayers, Jonathan Ratner, William Fretz, James Sayen, Norbert Considine, Stephen Goheen, James Hunt, Craig Battle and Philip Sherwood.

Delta Gamma Alumnae to Meet. The Delta Gamma Alumnae Association will meet Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Francis H. Davidson at 119 Parkside Drive. Members from Princeton, Kingston, Franklin Park and other nearby communities will attend.

Starting at 8 p.m., Mrs. Hans K. Sander, president, will conduct a short business meeting. The rest of the meeting will be devoted to working on objects such as little toys and animals to accompany first and second grade arithmetic workbooks for use by blind children in the Princeton, Hightstown, and Trenton schools.

Cadillac

World's Best Answer to a Detour!

Pretty rough road, you'd say? Well, you certainly wouldn't be aware of it if you were sitting where these happy travelers are.

For they're in a 1938 Cadillac—and here, beyond a doubt, is the world's best substitute for a new highway!

Just what is this special Cadillac magic that works such wonders on a rough roadway? Well, let's take a look and see what happens to a bump when it meets the wheels of a new 1938 Cadillac.

First of all, it is softened by those big, buoyant, full-sized Cadillac tires

... then it is gently cushioned by those massive, perfectly balanced Cadillac coil springs

... or, if the extra-cost option of air suspension is present, it is subdued by that miraculous cushion of air that cradles the entire frame

... then it is diminished still further by Cadillac's new hydraulic shock absorbers and by its specially engineered system of rubber body mountings.

And, of course, should any suggestion of it still remain, it meets its final demise in those deep, luxurious, Fleetwood-crafted seat cushions... and in the car's marvelous steadiness and balance.

All in all, it's the reason why a journey in a new Cadillac is the finest distance between any two points.

We invite you to try it for yourself—and to get the full facts about all of the beautiful Cadillacs, including the distinguished Eldorado Brougham.

Thanks from the Road Rascals.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The Club would like to express its appreciation to TOWN TOPICS for the recent article about our Club. We were pleasantly surprised at the length of the write-up and are sure your paper has done a great deal to acquaint the public with the aims and ideals of "hot-podders".

We have received comments on the article from all over the County and are sure you will be pleased to hear how widely read TOWN TOPICS is.

Possibly in about a year, it might be interesting to readers of your paper to hear how our Club has progressed and we will keep a file of interesting letters for you to use to lend "local color" to the article.

Thank you again for your service to the Club.

Hooklet Inaccurate on Dogs.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
It has come to our attention that in the useful hooklet "Know Your Town," published by the League of Women Voters, there is a serious deviation from the facts in the paragraph relating to the care of stray dogs in the Borough of Princeton.

I quote from the paragraph headed "Dog Licenses" on page 58:

"There is no control of stray dogs and no pound in the Borough; the Township, however, maintains a dog pound on State Road (in the rear of Walts' Store); The Township also contributes $100 per year to the Princeton Small Animal Rescue League to which the Police take injured animals while a search is made for the animal's owner."

The actual facts are as follows:
There is no pound as such in the Borough, but a far better shelter with medical care is provided.
Seven years ago when the Princeton Small Animal Rescue League was founded, the Borough Council made an arrangement with the League to care for all stray and injured animals, which are picked up in the Borough, taken either by the police or other persons to the shelter maintained by the Rescue League in the Lawrence Hospital for Animals.
Here they are given the necessary medical care and boarded at the expense of the League while a search is made for the owners or homes are found. For this service the Borough Council appropriated yearly, for the first six years, sums adequate for covering the expenses of all dogs brought in from the Borough.

Only for the past three years has the Township contributed $100 annually to the Rescue League.

This amount is very far from covering the cost to the Rescue League of caring for stray and injured animals brought in from the Township. Also dogs suspected of rabies are kept under observation for from ten to fourteen days in accordance with the law.

We have discovered, just recently that the Township "pound" in the rear of Walts' store was closed some time ago and that all stray dogs from the Township are now being taken to the Rescue League shelter and cared for and boarded at the expense of the League. (There has never, to our knowledge, been any provision made for stray and abandoned cats in the Township.)

Also, in regard to the statement: There is no control of stray dogs . . . in the Borough". The Borough did pass an ordinance for the control of dogs, several years ago and this is very effectively enforced by the Borough Police.

The Board of Trustees of the Rescue League hopes that in future printings of this booklet, these errors will be corrected. In the meantime we hope that this letter will help to clarify in the public mind the misleading infor-

SPORTS In Princeton

QUIET FORTNIGHT

Action fades 'til February. The annual mid-year examinations have brought an end to the University athletic schedule until next month. When action does resume, the first contests will be staged in the late afternoon to avoid conflict with the club-calling periods which determine sophomore election to Prospect Street entries.

The 43 hours which saw the final contests of the first term last weekend were marked by two resounding upsets, each extremely difficult to contemplate in advance. Princeton's hockey team surprised Dartmouth (until then, 5-1 on the season) by 3 to 2 on the Indians' own ice, and a Cornell basketball team which came into Dillon Gym in last place thumped a presumably title-minded Tiger quintet, 82-56. The latter defeat was one of the most complete absorbed by a first-division Princeton entry in the post-war era.

Unlike Ivy basketball and football, hockey is a good deal of a form sport. Upsets do occur, of course, but they are quite infrequent throughout the season and when they do occur, they are usually beat Princeton, 7-2, and Dartmouth conquered Yale, 5-2, on Hanover ice. It was considered both results were logical.

The Tiger skaters found an atmosphere at Dartmouth that was a mixture of under-landable confidence and an eagerness to beat the college that had last fall won the Ivy football title at the Indians' expense. Davis Rink was filled in the rafters with eager partisans at the opening face-off.

Tigers Never Hated. The first period was all set to go into the books as scoreless when Princeton hustled the puck deep into Dartmouth territory following a whistle for an off-side. Tony Peil

Award To Princetonia

The Touchdown Club of New York will present its coveted award—in this case, for 1957—to Asa S. Bushnell, Commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference. This distinctive honor is tendered to an individual who has made a contribution of permanent value to the sport of football, and numbers among its recipients some of the game's greatest names.

Bushnell, a graduate of Princeton University (21) and a resident of 71 Palmer Square, will receive the award this Thursday evening at the club's 25th annual dinner at the Hotel Sheraton-Astor. A number of Princetonia, representing the University and the sport of football, will gather in New York to recognize the tribute being accorded their fellow townsman.

Principal speaker at the dinner's program will be Col. John J. McLean, former All-American player and coach at West Point. Albie Booth, one-time All-American performer at Yale and now one of the game's finest officials, and Mel Allen, famed broadcaster who describes football contests as well as Yankee baseball games, also will be featured speakers.

Set up Pete Cook (see "We Congratulate, page 20) and the latter's angled shot from ten feet out hit the cage just as the buzzer ending the period sounded.

The sophomore line of Cook, Pell and Wagstaff repeated at 2:56 of the second round, with a vastly-improved Princeton defense turning aside all Dartmouth efforts. Game totals showed the hosts took 28 shots at Sid Guberaman in the Tiger cage, compared to 21 saves credited to the Indians' goalie.

John Hill, leading scorer on the Princeton sextet with an average of one goal per game to date, made it 3-0 less than a minute after the final round began. The home team finally broke into the scoring with six minutes to go, added another at 16:51 but never managed the equalizer.

Dick Vaughan credited Guberaman with playing a topflight game in the goal and his defensemen with "great back-checking" as major reasons for the Tigers' success. The triumph put the Orange and Black in a three-way tie with Harvard and Dartmouth (two points apiece) for league leadership, but the Crimson is the lone unbeaten outfit of the four that have seen action to date. Brown does not start its Ivy campaign until next month.

Quietest Frozen Stuff. So cold that its three big men could account for only eight points (with two of them held scoreless), Princeton's basketball team gave a thoroughly disappointing performance Saturday night in losing by 26 to Cornell. The defeat made Dartmouth's path to the title far simpler, although the Indians still have to get by Yale, Princeton and Penn on the road.

Carl Belz, whose top effort in the last four league games after getting 21 against Penn has been 12, was paired to eight by the fibacens. But the most astounding slide into scoring oblivion was taken by Captain Whiter Falconer, who was the leading scorer in the league after four games with 73 points. He took only six shots, made nary a one and yielded—Continued on Page 19

ed 22 to the opposing center, Joe Burns, who got 24 at New Haven a week earlier, was also blanked.

It took the Orange and Black six minutes before it made a field goal, but the visitors, too, were slow to start, and a brief Princeton rally caught them at 13-all. Thereafter, although the Tigers stayed within hailing distance during the first half, it was all Cornell.

With a 32-26 advantage at the intermission, the Red moved steadily forward. Three-point plays abounded, as the agile Lou Jordan rolled toward the evening's high of 29 and caused Art Klein to foul out trying to stop him.

Cornell opened up a 20-point gap with ten minutes left and that was the ball game. Klein was credited with 18 before leaving. Fred Perkins came off the bench to replace Bob Brangan and hit for 17, but the big guys were so far off form that these performances were of no avail.

Cornell had obviously been regarded too lightly, although it was logical to assume that the defeat by Brown would have squeezed all the over-confidence out of the Tigers at Providence. The Ithacans had been beaten by a thoroughly routine Columbia quintet on their own floor, and the night Princeton was defeating the Lions, Penn was a 17-point victor over Cornell. The loss raised hob with the Tigers' title chances, since a sweep of all seven home games is normally essential to winning a championship.

Columbia Beaten Handily. A Columbia quintet which has now replaced Cornell in the cellar gave Princeton little difficulty in Dillon Gym last Friday. The Tigers overcame an early 7-2 deficit built up a 33-26 half-time lead and were ahead by ten through-out most of the second period.

Klein again paced the scorers with 18, and that effort on his part sent all five Princeton starters into double figures for their season's average. All it served to do, however, was to make the rout at the hands of Cornell the more astounding.

Other University Sports. The wrestling team edged Columbia in New York, 16-14, last weekend, largely because Ron Humel, last year's freshman captain, moved up from 127 to 137 pounds and defeated his opponent. The squash team blanked Cornell, 9-0, to go into its stretch run next month without the loss of a point in its two matches to date.

The fencing team defeated C.N.Y., 17-10, but the swimming and track teams lost respectively to Army and Navy, both by wide margins. Freshman Ed White set a University record when he ran the 60-yard dash in Navy's new $40,000 field house in 6.1 seconds.

BOWLING NOTES

Princeton's lone team of Phil Wesp and Joe Trani, sponsored by Johnson Electrical Contractors, rallied gamely in the final block of the Trentonian's fifth annual Doubles Handicap Bowling Classic on Sunday evening and, by gaining an even split in the last go-round, finished in the tourney's second spot, good for $300 in prize money. . . actually, the Princetonians entered the final block in third place, but the record-breaking winning combination of Joe Vignione and Nick Hvasta blanked the then-runner-up team of Ed Crosby and Harry Johnson, enabling Wesp and Trani to edge the Crosby-Johnson duo by the slim margin of a point and a half when total points finally were figured. . . Vignione, who was awarded the coveted Steve Papp Memorial plaque that Jack Lucy of Princeton earned a year ago, performed nobly with Hvasta—and they wound up a solid 10 points in front of Wesp and Trani.

Here at Princeton Recreation Center, no less than 15 games of 200-plus were rolled in the Tri-County Firemen's League, while, in the "A" and "B" loops combined, only one such score was registered by George Duryea, a 222 in the "A" circuit. . . the red-hot firefighters were Henry Sutphin, 232, Ken Luck, 211-201, Elmer Drake, 225, Bill Bergen, 223, Bob Richardson, 219, Ben Micinski, 218, Jack Stout, 217, Lars Christiansen, 215, Larry Dupraz, 213-200, Ben Salvatini, 211, Harold Devall, 209, John Cashill, 207, and Harry Kahny, 202. . . as a result of the firemen's individual play, Princeton Engine Company No. 1 (73 wins) went nowhere in team play as Belle Mead (69) and Blawburg (62) moved into contention. . . the Farmers, Grover's Lumber and Shelton Motors began the second half of the "A" League season by taking two of three games from Tiger Garage, Farr Hardware and Yeoman's, respectively. . . in the "B" loop, also in the second half of its campaign, Titus Motors (10) held first place, followed closely by Maul Electric, Tiger Bus and the Plainsboro Lions (8 apiece).

Nassau Del (68) completed a hair-raising first-half finish in the Industrial League by shading Glenmoor (67), which was blanked in the final and telltale match by fifth-place Wengryn Construction. . . individually, Larry Golden, 221, Alfred Ceraso, 212, Rudy Lehnert, 205, and Bill Sculerati, 203, were the standouts of the final week. . . Tiger Garage (16) grabbed an early second-half lead over Kase Kleeners (14) in the Major League as the point-making was topped by Percy Klat.—Continued on Page 20

PETE COOK Princeton Hockey Player

Of the first six players on the current Princeton hockey team and their six immediate predecessors, seven are members of the sophomore class. Inasmuch as the Tigers' record now stands at 2-1 sharp in contrast to their 2-18 mark for last season, there is substantial cause for the belief that the Class of 1960 has made a major contribution to a faster upswing in Princeton hockey fortunes than had seemed possible.

The tide began to turn with the new year. On January 4, Coach Dick Vaughan reshuffled his lineup during a two-day visit to the hockey center of Lynn, Mass., and the wholesale changes paid off at once. Credited with three of the eight goals in the 8-2 rout of strong Boston College was the all-sophomore line of Pete Cook, Tony Pili and Dave West.

Ivy champion Harvard topped the Tigers in the league opener, but it was this same trio which shaved the Crimson's margin to 3-2 with a pair of goals less than two minutes apart early in the third round. At Hanover last Saturday, paced by Cook, this line took charge in visible fashion as highly-rated Dartmouth fell victim to a 3-2 upset.

Cook changed in the first scoring spot just as the buzzer sounded in the first period. Less than three minutes after play had resumed, he had another. Asked what part of the cage the puck hit, the soft-spoken 18-year old said, "I don't know—it was a backhand shot and I never saw it." Obviously, neither did the Dartmouth goalie.

Like the rest of the male members of his hockey-loving family, that Kingston resident has been on skates virtually since he could walk. Learning on Carnegie Lake near the dam (which his mother once referred to as "our end of the rink"), he had the advantage of instruction from a Blackwell Cup-winning father (Princeton's top hockey award) and early participation in the sport at Princeton Country Day. Alumni of the Broadmead institution have been prime factors in the University's hockey success for nearly two decades, including the two Ivy championships credited to the Tigers.

A leading role in Exeter and then Princeton freshman hockey fortunes predated Cook's appearance on the varsity scene. A player on attack because he knows the theory of offense, and a better-than-average skater who does more than his share in protecting the goalie on defense, Pete Cook is a thoroughly welcome addition to the long line of Princeton area residents who have helped make hockey history in Baker Rink.

Friday, taking all five matches. Princeton players were Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Claghorn, Mrs. Smoyer, Mrs. Lester Tibbals and Mrs. J.S. Thornton.

GOING STRONG

Hun Wins Two More. Anxious to go into the mid-year examination period in the right frame of mind—with a near-perfect basketball record—Hun School's cagers this week sought victories six and seven in a row. Coach George Selleck's fast-moving five triumphed over Bryn Athyn Military Institute this Wednesday, too late for inclusion of the final result in the current TOWN TOPICS, and will meet Germantown Academy in Pennsylvania on Friday afternoon. Then, the Johnny Huns will remain idle until February 5.

They were far from idle last Saturday as George Cramer, the team's scoring leader a year ago, finally found the range and paced Hun to a much-deserved 55-47 triumph over Bryn Athyn. Cramer tallied six field goals and five free throws for a total of 17 points, the only Red and Black performer to reach double figures.

Selleck's quintet, which dropped its first and only game of the campaign to this same Bryn Athyn club, 52-43, experienced little trouble in gaining its revenge win. The Johnny Huns were ahead 29-15 at halftime and outscored the Pennsylvanians in every quarter but the fourth, when Selleck experimented with several different combinations. The success, enabling the Red and Black to attain a 5-1 mark, represented a somewhat remarkable reversal in that Hun beat Bryn Athyn on its home court after losing the season's opener here.

SUCCESS SCRIPT

Little Tigers Use It Twice. Unhappy with their performances in absorbing four straight setbacks, three of them since the first of the year, the Little Tigers of Princeton High struck back determinedly this past week to register a pair of well deserved basketball victories and raise their campaign mark to 4-5. Curiously, they followed the same late-rally script to surprise Ewing High, 66-60, and come from way back to edge Long Branch, 62-58. Alan Ammerman, the Blue and White's consistent leader, and Tony Boccanfuso, the Johnny-come-lately on the club, sparked terrific rallies in each game, outscoring Ewing 20-16 and Long Branch 23-10 in the contests' final quarters. Ammerman totaled 20 points against the Blue Devils and 23 against the Branchers (this season's high) to climb back toward the 20 per-game level. Boccanfuso sank 25 against Ewing (season's high for the team) and 15 more against Long Branch.

In the Blue Devil tussle, PHIS' third out-of-town night game of the winter, Princeton went ahead 19-16 in the opening stanza only to lose some steam and find itself with a narrow one-point margin, 30-29, at intermission time. Per custom, the Little Tigs were colder than the local weather after halftime as Ewing, paced by Tom Hobson, roared back to grab a 44-30 lead by the three-quarter mark. It looked as though Coach Tony Borzok's forces were about to drop their fifth in a row for lack of a concerted attack.

Such was not the case. A concerted offensive — in the form of Ammerman and Boccanfuso — was launched, inspiring the Little Tigers to their finest ball of the season to date. Though the final period, as the three before it, was marred by an overdose of fouls, the Blue and White managed to control the ball well and put together a pair of telltale seven-point spurts. Together, Ammerman and Boccanfuso scored 20 of Princeton's 29 markers in the do-or-die last quarter.

An Amazing Repetition. To the surprise of close observers of the game, the pattern of Princeton's conquest of Long Branch here Tuesday afternoon all but matched last Friday evening's victory. A one-point difference separated the two clubs at halftime — in this case, a 32-31 Brancher advantage — and, at the end of three periods, a seemingly listless PHIS quintet had fallen behind by a 48-30 count. Only an amazing repetition of events in Ewing could save the Little Tigers, and, sure enough it did.

Ammerman, who had scored on 53% of his shots from the floor and had snared 15 rebounds against Ewing, garnered only 27% and 10 rebounds against Long Branch, but otherwise he was sensational. The hard-driving forward stole the ball on seven occasions, most of them in the late stages, and of vital significance, he dumped 15 of 38 free throws in another foul-hampered contest. Boccanfuso completed 46% of his shots, a repeat of his Ewing percentage, and confused the opposition just when it counted most, Captain Steve Hoggarty, off-form after a helpful job of ballhawking against the Blue-Devils, sat out the great rally against Long Branch, which saw Bill Stryker, Bryce Chase and Doug Hayes outshine and outlight the physically rugged visitors (now 2-5 for the year).

This Friday, at the usual 3:20 p.m. starting hour, PHIS will meet South River High in the Princeton gym. And next Tuesday, also at 3:20, Somerville will come to town. In each instance, the game will be the only one pitting Princeton against the visiting club this campaign.

Cnash George Poviliatis' colorful PHIS junior varsity (5-4) will play its South River and Somerville counterparts following each varsity game. Last week, with Edgar Riddick scoring his per cent, the current season, 26 points, the current season, 26 points, Princeton turned back the Ewing joycees, 70-64. On Tuesday, the little Little Tigers lost, 38-32, as Riddick fell off to 11 markers, the sole PHIS player to reach double figures.

FCD TEAMS SPLIT

Hockey Team Wins Second. Its annual New England invasion was partially curtailed by snow, but Princeton Country Day School's hockey team brought home a 5-1 conquest of the Kent School Juniors last weekend. The contest with Loomis was cancelled but the Blue and White added a scrimmage with the Hotchkiss joycees to its two-day jaunt.

Goals in the Kent game were credited to Jobe Stevens, Bob Mueller, Steve Cook, Perry Rodgers and Dave Kelley. The Broadmead six will play its next game, a return contest with the Lawrenceville juniors, at Lawrenceville on Friday, January 31.

Country Day's basketball team will aim for its first victory in three starts when it takes on Milltown at home this Friday. The Middlesex County quintet won the first game between the two schools, 30-26.

SOMETHING OF VALUE

Latin Study Program. Latin students at Princeton High School have compiled a study of "The Value of Latin" which includes opinions on the subject by prominent men. The collection of excerpts from letters was completed under the direction of Mrs. Glenda Richards, head of the Latin Department, and will be sent to every Latin teacher in New Jersey high schools.

Included are the views of leaders in the fields of government, education, science, law, banking, business and industry, journalism, radio-television, medicine and religion. Vice-president Richard Nixon, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Sherman Adams, Governor Robert Meyner, Robert F. Cohen, Harold R. Medina, Bernard Baruch, Henry Ford II and James Thurber are among those who answered the students' letters on the value of Latin.

Mr. Adams, Assistant to the President, lists these as some of the values in the study of Latin: "A much fuller understanding of the English language than you could ever gain otherwise, and therefore a greater skill in the use of our language; a finer appreciation of Roman civilization, with all its profound meaning; Western civilization and to our appreciation of our problems today; a higher power of concentration, the key to accomplishment in most fields; a head start in the study of the great languages which are rooted in Latin; and an extension of knowledge into the many fields in which Latin still plays an important role, as, for instance, law."

Governor Meyner notes that the letter from Princeton High arrived at the same time that experts were questioning whether the present high school curriculum isn't too "soft." "What some critics see as a softening of the curriculum seems to have been directly related to the decline of Latin as required or elective subject," he says, following with "I am for Latin."

HAT IN THE RING
Morris Announces Candidacy. Indications of a wide-open primary campaign have increased with the announcement of the candidacy for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senator from New Jersey of Robert Morris of Folsom, Pleasant. Mr. Morris has promised a vigorous campaign before the November election. He calls himself spokesman for "Across-the-board Republicanism."

Mr. Morris is 43 years old, married to a former New York Times newspaper woman, and has four children. He has been a Republican worker since 1928, when, as a high school boy, he aided, his father, H. H. Morris of Jersey City, in organizing the first effective fight against Frank Hague. After little more than two years he resigned to become chief counsel to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, where he has won acclaim for his work and for his fair treatment of witnesses.

Nursery Applications Ready. Applications for Princeton County Nursery School will be accepted from now until February 15 by Mrs. Donald Horning, 100 Alexander Street. Three four-year-old children are eligible for enrollment in next fall's group.

The nursery school is run on a cooperative basis by participating parents and the children meet each Wednesday morning at the Cottage. Parents who would like more information may call Mrs. Horning at WA-5348.

Miss Menzies to Speak. The Soprinists will hear Miss Elizabeth C. Menzies speak on her recent trip to Europe at their meeting this Thursday at the Peacock Inn. Miss Menzies is a biographer for the Index of Christian Art of Princeton University, a source of art historical information for scholars, which took her to Europe.

Miss Menzies began her transatlantic travels when she was nine and sold her first European photograph to the Weekly Scotsman in 1940. She has been taking pictures for the Princeton Alumni Weekly for over 20 years and was offered a one-man exhibition at the Baltimore Museum of Art last spring.

"Coffee Day" for Polo. Every cup of coffee sold in six Princeton hotels and restaurants on Saturday will benefit the March of Dimes. Arrangements have been made by Nelson Coughlan, head of the Tennis and Polo committee at Princeton High School.

Each sale will ring up five cents toward the campaign at these dining places: Nassau Tavern, Princeton Inn, Borden-Castanea, Hy's Delicatessen, Seaboard Delicatessen and the Princeton Goody Shop.

P.T.A. to Hold Dance. The Parent-Teacher Association of St. Paul's will hold a barn dance Saturday, February 1, from 8:30 to 12 H it will be open to the public with the proceeds going toward the new school library. The admission will be $1. Free parking with tickets available at the door.

Chairmen of the dance are Mrs. Makela Jones, Mrs. Dalton Pritchard and Mrs. Ernest Slinger. Jack Vetter will do the calling and prizes will be awarded to the winning couples. Refreshments will be available.

Cub Scout Banquet. Lawrenceville Cub Scouts, Pack No. 27, will hold their annual Blue and Gold Banquet at 6:35 p.m. February 7 at Jack Fowler's Restaurant on Route 1. The banquet is for the Cubs and their dads only.

Den Mothers will handle the reservations and will supply fathers for those dads who father can't attend. The regular monthly Pack meeting will be held at the meeting so there will be no February Pack meeting.

Required Reading Available. All books being used in courses on European best-sellers and great plays at the Princeton Adult School are available at the Public Library. The library also stocks a small collection of books for supplementary reading for the flower arrangement class. The books will be loaned only to those enrolled in the classes. Thirty copies, enough for every member in the class, are available for the contemporary European best-sellers, and several copies of each of the "great plays" are on hand. Books will also be stocked for the new term of "Rise Semester" on television, starting Monday.

ATOM SMASHER STARTED
Accelerator Cornerstone Laid. The cornerstone for the first unit of the Princeton-Fennsylvania accelerator was laid last week at Princeton University's Forrestal Research Center. The first unit of the 3-billion electron volt atom smasher will house the administrative staff.

Among those participating in the ceremonies were Professor Milton G. White, director of the $6,000,000 project; Dr. Henry D. Smyth, chairman of Princeton's board of Scientific and Engineering Research; Dr. John H. Wallace Jr., administrative director of Forrestal; David B. Sloan, president of Gibbs and Hill, Inc., New York City, consulting engineers for the undertaking; and Samuel L. Hack, chief of the Atomic Energy Commission's Princeton field office.

The whole project, financed by the Atomic Energy Commission, is scheduled for completion by mid-1960. It will provide the world's most intense source of mesons, elementary particles that have only a brief existence in cosmic rays but which are believed to have possible significance as a type of "nuclear glue."

Robert Burns Supper. Daughters of Scotia, Thistle Lodge No. 220, will hold its annual Robert Burns Supper at 6:30 this Friday. The dinner in honor of the Scot poet will be held in the Odd Continued on Page 22

News Of The CHURCHES

IN THE PULPIT

Young Will Serve, by resounding celebration of Youth Week, several churches will turn over their lecterns this Sunday to young members of the congregation who will explore the general subject of "Belief."

At the First Presbyterian Church, there will be a three-in-one sermon, "Help Thou Our Unbelief" in which three preachers will take part. Robert Ball, senior at Princeton Seminary and advisor to the Junior High Fellowship at the church, Terrence N. Tice, graduate student at the Seminary and advisor to the Senior Fellowship, and Dr. John R. Bodo, pastor, will share in the sermon.

Young people of the church will conduct the liturgy at both 9:30 and 11 a.m. services. At 9:30, Christine Davis, seventh grader at Quarry Street School, will lead the service, and at 11 a.m., the liturgy will be under the direction of Richard Pearson, Jr., eighth grade student at Valley Road School.

The Junior Choir and the High School Choir will sing. Mary T. Krimmel directing, at both services, and the congregation will be seated.

A service of dedication will conclude Youth Sunday. The service will be held at 7:30 p.m. and will be led by William W. Smith, Jr., and Joel B. Johnson, Jr.

At Witherspoon Presbyterian, members of the High School Westminster Fellowship will be in charge of the 11 a.m. service. Joe Moore will speak on "What You Wish I'll" and his helpers will be Linda Gillett, Tom McPherson and Patricia Fish. The Junior Choir will sing and other Juniors will assist. "Lord, I believe" is the topic chosen by Kingston's Young people. There, in the Presbyterian Church, four young people will conduct the entire 11 a.m. service except for the installation of church officers.

Founders Hoared. Twenty-one founders of the Princeton Jewish Center will be honored this Friday at the last Friday evening services to be held in the Olden Avenue Center. Services will be held for the first time in the new Center on Friday, January 31.

Founders to be cited are as follows: Alice Braveman, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Goldstein, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sikowitz, Dr. and Mrs. Irving Levy, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Epstein, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Tobolsky, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, Dr. and Mrs. William Z. Abrams, Dr. and Mrs. Marver Bernstein, Dr. and Mrs. Avner Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Schwartzstein, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hymelberg.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Salkin, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Bogdanoff, Dr. and Mrs. Ivan Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Kasriel, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Abrams, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Abrams, Dr. and Mrs. Arnold Lampert, Mrs. Helen Brenner Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ballot.

Bulletin Notes. The "University of Life's" third speaker will be the Rev. W. Neal Raver, minister of the Woodbury Church, who will discuss "Making Christianity Vital in the Church" next Wednesday at 6 p.m., at the Princeton Methodist church.

In the children's classes, which are held simultaneously with the discussion, the topic is "Japan" and the children will learn Japanese paper folding this week under the guidance of Tomoko Suzuki, Mrs. K. Kodaira and her daughters, Yasuko and Mariko. They will wear Japanese costume, will provide music.

A survey made for Trinity Church by Public Opinion Surveys, Inc. has shown that general public and membership reaction to the proposed new Trinity construction plans is very favorable. The study also examined the characteristics and religious habits of the people who will be in the new church building and parish house.

Fellows Hall, 23 Witherspoon Street.

Members and friends are invited to attend the supper which will be followed by entertainment and dancing. Miss Gladys Wheeler and Mrs. Constance Henderson are co-chairmen in charge of arrangements.

YWCA Staris New Program. Over 20 classes in a wide variety of subjects will be given at the YWCA adult-winter program. It opens this week, with registration now going on at the Nassau Street YWCA.

Many language courses are listed for the winter season. Mrs. Herman N. Archer will teach both intermediate and advanced French. The intermediate class, held Thursday mornings, is already full, but openings are still available in the advanced French class, to be held Wednesday mornings from 9:30 to 10:30.

Other courses are beginners' Spanish, scheduled for Thursday evenings, and the many English classes offered for newcomers on Thursdays. The "mothers morning out" classes on Tuesday from 10 to 12 will continue with lessons in sewing, gymnastics and rug making. A nursery will be provided. The same courses will be given in the evening. Registration and further information about all classes may be obtained at the Nassau Street YWCA, or by calling WA 4-0639.

Naturalist Lecture Friday. The Trenton Naturalist Club, which numbers several Princeton residents among its members, will present "Ranch and Range" an illustrated lecture on California Coast Range country Friday at 8 p.m. It will be given at Junior High School No. 6, West Side Street and Parkside Avenue, Trenton.

The speaker will be Albert J. Weger, a California rancher who will show color films featuring close-ups of birds and wild animals he has spent a life-time studying. This is one of a series of Audubon Screen Tours, with the next set for Feb. 10, to tell of Emerson Scott's "Rocky Mountain Rambles."

Valentine Dance Planned. The Mount of Charles Covert will feature the "Coeurs et Fleurs" dance planned for Friday, February 14, by the Junior Faculty Women of Princeton University. It will take place from 9 to 1 at Proctor Hall of the Graduate College, with tickets available at the door.

Mrs. S. T. Beza is chairman of the committee in charge. Assisting her are Mrs. Ralston E. Hart, Mrs. Peter J. Warter, Jr., entertainment; Mrs. Jerome C. Strong, refreshments; Mrs. Hugh Greenwood, tickets; and Mrs. Oliver E. Overeth, Jr., publicity.

FINE HOMES FOR THE CAREFUL BUYER

FOR RENT: Luxury Housing. Very compact house with many baths, beautiful rooms, greenhouse, swimming pool. Available from mid-winter until mid-summer. Ideal as a stop-gap while hunting permanent housing.

HAPPINESS ALMOST GUARANTEED in this pretty, well-arranged, rancher. Beautiful bright living room with fireplace, large dining L, good-sized kitchen, three double bedrooms and tile bath, large enclosed breezeway. Two-car garage, full basement, and most beautiful lot. $28,000.

MOST UNUSUAL. An attractive Dutch Colonial in a perfect western section location — stoutly built and beautifully maintained. Entry hall, large living-room with fireplace, study, sun-room, dining room, children's play room, recently remodelled kitchen with built-in oven and range; on second floor — four bedrooms and two baths, plus servants' quarters. Two-car garage, attached greenhouse, private care yard with nice trees. $35,000.

A CLASSIC — perfectly beautiful and perfectly arranged for a family demanding their way of life be modern but graced with charm and dignity our forefathers thought important: an entrance hall with character, hospitable living room, sunny dining room, cozy study, a "cheer" kitchen, laundry and tile lavatory on first floor, four excellent bedrooms, two tile baths on second. That compact larger house you have despaired of finding. $39,500.

COLONIAL ATMOSPHERE

FOR COUNTRY ADICTS

at $27,000

You have to be a certain kind of person to buy this house—you can't be one who must have that "Princeton address," can't mind driving (25 minutes on good roads), must like country living (3 acres of orchards, brook, sluice and a view). If you are that certain person, what a buy! The 200 year old house has everything an old house can offer—fireplaces, wide floorboards throughout, old glass panes, wonderful cellar with huge fireplace, big beams—plus a tasteful job of modernizing and decorating in the kitchen, dining room, living room and five bedrooms. An old carriage house could make a separate apartment.
Are there any writers with mothers-in-law reading this?

RANCH IN THE WOODS
for $12,500

Admittedly we're exaggerating a bit—this brand new ranch isn't really in the woods, but you do get a feeling of woods privacy from its attractive ½-acre lot near the lake. Inside, the well-built house has an excellent layout and a surprising amount of room. In addition to the 3 bedrooms, good kitchen and big living room with fireplace, there is a large paneled study, separate dining room, 2 baths, full cellar and attic and marvelous closets. All in all, a lot of house for a realistic price—well worth seeing and buying.
